Report Description: Nurse is observing children while naked in the shower. a. Three residents said they had experienced a nurse doing "shower checks" and one said they had heard the nurse do it to another child, but had not experienced it personally. All four described the process as the nurse telling residents to open the curtain and then looking to make sure she can see soap everywhere. Two of the residents stated this process has also involved being instructed to turn around, bend over, or spread their legs. b. Clinical Director confirmed that nurses do "soap checks" that involve viewing the residents in the showers from time to time to address hygiene issues. All residents indicated to [REDACTED] that there was only one nurse that does this and identified her as Nurse [REDACTED]. When [REDACTED] shared this information with the Clinical Director, in particular that according to residents only one nurse was doing this, she did not ask which nurse had been identified.
