Interview Summary
DHS CCLP interviewed four clients during the unannounced site inspection. One client was interviewed in his room while clients were in a transition time between school and lunch. The other three clients were interviewed at the administrative building in their Library one at a time with no staff present. All interviews took place in a private manner to ensure the clients ability to speak freely. On a scale from 0-10 (0=worst program, 10=best program) client's reported Trillium – Parry Center to be a 5, 7.5, 8, and a 10 on that scale. All client's reported feeling safe at Parry Center. Clients described staff as, "cool and respectful;", "respectful and like them", "staff are really great, give you options, kind, funny and they take sarcasm", "like the staff". Food was described as: "10 out of 10!", "Recently had a stomachache from mac and cheese", "pretty good – 9 out of 10", and "good". All clients reported getting enough food to eat and that they receive snacks. Reported snacks included: fruit, vegetables, yogurt, and crackers. All clients reported having visits and phone calls and showers. One client reported enjoying the school program as they are getting caught up and they enjoy the length of time in school and the break schedule works well for them. All clients were able to discuss what they have learned in their respective groups. A younger client was able to discuss the concept of "stop and think" and they enjoyed groups. Other clients spoke about DBT skills, breathing skills, and life skills learned at the Parry Center. Clients reported fun: play basketball, play video games, reading, journaling, get to go outside the fence and ride bikes. Clients also spoke about how the staff manage the environment well when another client is being disruptive to the milieu. Removing other clients from the disruption, offering noise cancelling headphones for youth to use, and separating clients. When asked if given a magic wand and could improve the program within reason, client's reported: "Wish the bathroom was cleaner, address dirty showers", Another client reported a desire for cleaner bathrooms as well. Another client reported wanting more staff so they could have more frequent basketball time and their wish to not have ants in the building. Another client reported a desire for more consistency amongst staff from "front end week staff to back end week staff". I spoke with one staff member while they were in the laundry room asking how they like working at Parry Center. They reported they have just started working and have liked working there. I met the education team during their lunch break and they shared some of their curriculum and teaching approaches used in their respective classrooms.

Observations
During the inspection I observed the school building having work performed on it due to a burst pipe from the January Ice storm. The West building was having mold remediation work performed in the crawl space. I observed clients and staff interacting in a prosocial positive manner. I observed a staff member watching a client that was on one-on-one supervision status.
