Interview summary
DHS CCLP interviewed seven clients (2 from West-1), (2 from West-2), (1 from North-1), and (2 from North-2) during the unannounced site inspection. Most clients were interviewed outside the cafeteria courtyard to ensure privacy. One client was interviewed on unit in the private family room and another client was interviewed in the large conference room in the administrative building. All interviews took place in a private manner to ensure the clients ability to speak freely. On a scale from 0-10 (0=worst program, 10=best program) client's reported Trillium – Parry Center to be an average rating of 6.1 on that scale (3, 5, 5, 5,7, 7.5, and 10). All client's reported feeling safe at Parry Center. The client reporting program as a 3 reported the "food is bad, and they receive only one hour of outside time a day." Other's described food as "pretty good", "fine", "mostly good", and "okay". All client's reported having enough food to eat and receiving snacks. Reported favorite foods include mac and cheese, chicken strips, tacos, enchiladas, pizza, nachos, and the orange cream cheese muffins. Other clients reported enjoying the option to drink different juices throughout the day. Clients reported vegetarian options are available, as this had been a recent concern. None of the clients reported this as a concern now. Clients reported attending groups, going weekly to counseling and family therapy. Clients reported having phone calls and having visits both on and off site with family members. Other clients reported acronyms from their treatment groups from Dialectical Behavioral Therapy (DBT). Most clients were able to identify what it takes to discharge and where their possible discharge placement would be. For fun clients reported the following: draw, skateboard, bike, rollerblade, four square, go outside, work in the garden, screen time, and today some clients were excited to play in water as it is a warm / hot day. Client reported a slip n slide will be set up and water balloons and soaker toys. This client was very animated about this activity after school today. Another client reports they enjoy the tub in the bathroom and the bath toys and finds this time relaxing. Clients were asked if given a magic wand to improve the program within reason what would you do? "Staff need to be more supportive." "Make bedrooms bigger." "Hire more emotionally mature staff." "To be moved to the more mature unit." "To have a pool on site, and if not that, tree houses."

Interview summary
One client brought up a previous reported concern. That concern has been reported to the Safe line, and OTIS is involved. I confirmed this during my debrief with Trillium Administrative team at conclusion / debrief at end of unannounced site visit. I followed up with head of the Kitchen regarding a previous concern. The concern was related to emergency food during inclement weather and/or if staff do not report to work. It was also reported the main concern was regarding not having vegetarian options. Program has a salad bar in cafeteria and provides vegetarian snacks as well. Emergency food is on site, both hot and easy to serve options that are vegetarian. Gluten free options are available, including gluten free bread that is in freezer. In addition, the Culinary Department has made an effort to have various juices available to encourage clients to stay hydrated. Clients reported they like the different drink options. Staff reported they enjoy their work at Parry Center. Spoke with one school associated worker that does not work for Trillium but is employed with Portland Public Schools. They reported concerns about Portland Public Schools hiring more administrative staff while cutting positions for those delivering direct services to students.

Observations
During the inspection I saw areas of the building where the roof is being worked on. All buildings were clean except a few client bedrooms. When I spoke with clients, they reported there are expectations to have clean bedrooms. I observed staff interacting with clients in a positive and helpful manner.

Corrective actions and timeframes: Please submit the following to verify compliance.
