Interview Summary
During the unannounced site review, a good deal of discussion took place with Poe Foster, Program Manager and with Asia Van Horn, supervisor of the Klahre House Residential Program. Shortly after the site visit, I was also able to have a telephone conversation with Melanie Kelly, Program Director. In addition, two youth enrolled in the Klahre House Residential Program and one staff of the program were randomly selected and individually interviewed. The staff person was interviewed via the telephone. One of the youth enrolled in the residential program stated the program was "nice," that the program was a "homelike setting," that the food was "pretty good,' and that they went on lots of outings in the community. The other youth stated he "liked living in the program," that he had his own room, that the food was OK, and that he was learning a great deal in the program, especially in his gardening and culinary classes. He also stated he liked the program more than other programs he had previously been enrolled since he had his own room. Both youth stated that staff were helpful and nice. When asked if they would change anything about the program, one of the youth could not think of anything they would change and the other wished the program would provide him with "more free time" and he wished the program would allow him to call and talk with old friends. This youth also stated he wished his Probation Officer didn't take so long to approve visits with his family members outside of the program. Both youth also stated they felt safe in the program both during the day and at night while in their bedrooms, and both youth reported they were able to make private calls when they wanted to persons on their approved contact list. Both youth also denied ever being treated badly or observing anotheryouth in the program being treated badly in any way by program staff. During telephonic interview with the one line staff, we discussed his duties as a Youth Care Specialist. He stated he enjoys working for the agency and feels supported in his role. He also stated he always has someone to call, if he were to have a question and stated the culture of the program is welcoming to everyone, is positive, and is supportive. He also stated he receives enough information about each child to effectively address their treatment issues and keep them safe and was able to talk about systems the program had in place to effectively keep staff updated about youth's behaviors and critical information about new admits into the program. He also stated he felt he received sufficient training and was able to effectively relay the program's suicide prevention and search policies and stated he had his annual suicide prevention training coming up in the next week. Finally, he stated his supervisor had discussions with him about suicide prevention, medication administration, and search, as appropriate and when issues came up.

Observations
During walkthrough of the program, it was observed that the house was in a well-maintained middle-class neighborhood and that the house was well-constructed and designed, with main living and outdoor areas which were well maintained, welcoming, and in good repair. The bathrooms and kitchen also had very nice appliances and fixtures, and most of the showers were nicely tiled. The areas where youth congregated were also nicely painted and included comfortable and nice furniture. The residence was also very clean. The main living area of the program had a vaulted ceiling, with the kitchen directly attached. The kitchen also had a nice pantry.
